

Philip S. Barie, M.D., M.B.A., Master C.C.M., F.I.D.S.A., F.A.C.S.

Professor of Surgery and Professor of Public Health in Medicine

Weill Cornell Medicine

Philip S. Barie graduated from Boston University with simultaneously awarded Bachelor of Arts (cum laude) and Doctor of Medicine degrees in 1977. In 2003, Doctor Barie received a Master of Business Administration degree (with academic distinction) from Auburn University. He trained in general surgery at The New York Hospital-Cornell Medical Center under the tutelage of the renown G. Tom Shires, M.D., who stimulated his interest in trauma and critical care. After receiving a NIH National Research Service Award Postdoctoral Fellowship in trauma and burn research at Albany

Medical College under the tutelage of Samuel R. Powers, Jr., M.D., he joined the Weill Cornell Medicine faculty in 1984, and is currently Doctor Barie is Professor of Surgery (with tenure) and Professor of Medicine (Public Health)

Doctor Barie is Chief of the Preston A. (Pep) Wade Acute Care Surgical Service at NewYork-Presbyterian Hospital/Weill Cornell Medical Center. He is a Master Fellow of the American College of Critical Care Medicine (one of only 14 surgeons world-wide), and a Fellow of the American College of Surgeons, the American Surgical Association, the Southern Surgical Association, the American Association for the Surgery of Trauma, and the Infectious Diseases Society of America, among the more than 25 societies to which he has been elected.

Doctor Barie has devoted his career to the study and management of surgical Infectious diseases> He is an active investigator in the epidemiology of multiple organ dysfunction syndrome, the host biologic response to infection, and the pharmacotherapy of sepsis and infection. He has received the Peter C. Canizaro Award of The American Association for the Surgery of Trauma, the Best New Book Award of the Association of American Publishers (for the textbook Surgical Intensive Care), the Presidential Citation of the Society of Critical Care Medicine (twice), and the Distinguished Alumnus Award of Boston University School of Medicine. He has been honored for his teaching four times at Weill Cornell. Doctor Barie is listed among America's Top Doctors, New York Magazine's Top Doctors, and is mentioned in Who's Who in America. He is a Past-President of the Society of Critical Care Medicine, the Eastern Association for the Surgery of Trauma, the Surgical Infection Society, the Halsted Society, and the New York State Society of Surgeons. He serves pro bono as the Executive Director of the Surgical Infection Society Foundation for Research ad Education.

Doctor Barie is the author or coauthor of more than 230 peer-reviewed manuscripts, five books, and more than 100 book chapters among more than 750 total publications. He has delivered more than 400 invited lectures nationally and internationally, including numerous visiting professorships and named/ended lectureships. Doctor Barie is the founding editor of Surgical Infections, and serves on the editorial boards of several peer-reviewed journals, including Critical Care Medicine and The American Journal of Surgery, in addition to reviewing ad hoc for more than 50 peer-reviewed journals.